

It is very important to the trucking industry to have the instant weather and traffic report in order to get the goods delivered on time. Also if there is bad weather ahead then the truckers can make adjustments to their routing and go around the storms or the traffic problems. It helps knowing so that the truckers can keep valuable cargo on the constant move.